

Newsletter

This week, I am pleased to report that Malvern have received I CAN Early Talk accreditation. Accreditors noted that:

"It is clear that Malvern are aware of and value the contributions that parents can make in supporting speech and language targets at home. Parents are involved in making plans, and strategies to support children at home are shared."

Special thanks to all within our EYFS team for their determination to ensure that language and communication is at the heart of our early years provision. Special thanks to Mrs Horan for leading on the project.

I wish you a restful and relaxing weekend,

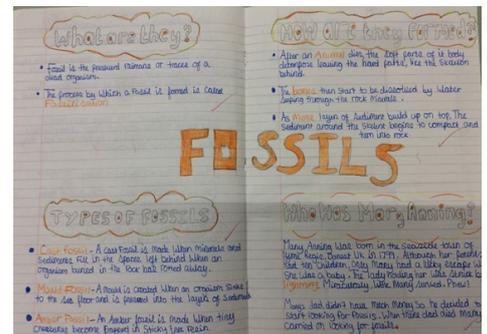

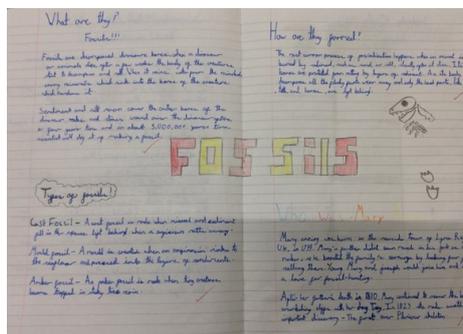

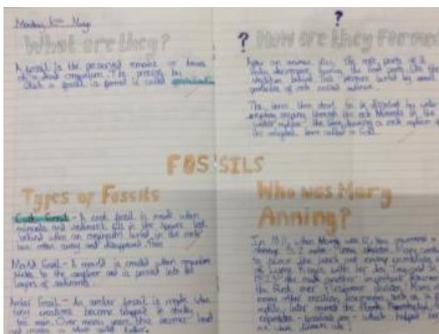

Kind regards,

Mr James

Year 6 Learning Expedition: This is Me

This week, Year 6 pupils have deepened their pre-existing knowledge of the palaeontologist, Mary Anning. Learners have researched how Anning's work contributed to current thinking about fossils, animals and plants. In English, pupils showcased their knowledge by producing fact-files. Well done, year six.

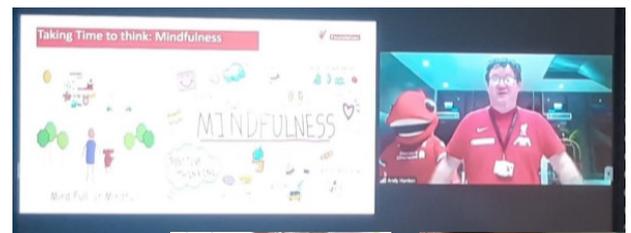

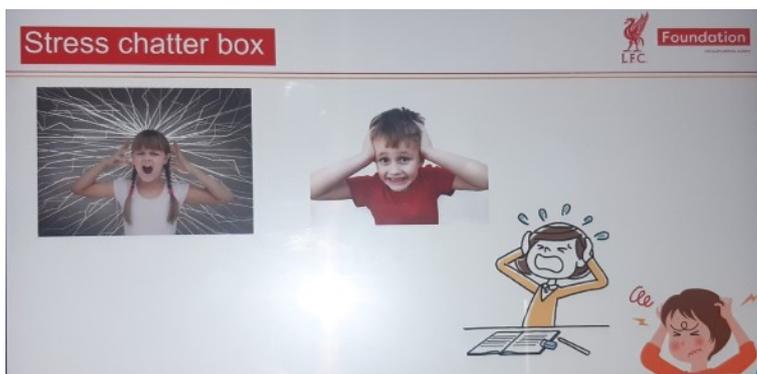

Well done to all of our pupils who have achieved Rock Star, Rock Legend and Rock Hero status this week in school. We are incredibly proud of you all!

Mental Health Awareness Week

This week, to mark Mental health Awareness Week, pupils took part in a special assembly hosted by LFC Community Foundation live from Anfield Stadium. Thank you to all involved for facilitating this opportunity for our young people. Mental Health Awareness Week is an opportunity for all of us to focus on good mental health. This year, the focus has been on connecting with nature and creating a culture of mindfulness. Our relationship with nature – how much we notice, think about and appreciate our natural surroundings – is a critical factor in supporting good mental health and preventing distress. When it comes to mental health benefits, nature has a very wide definition. It can mean green spaces such as parks, woodland or forests as well as blue spaces like rivers, wetlands, beaches or canals. It also includes trees on an urban street, private gardens, verges and even indoor plants or window boxes. Surprisingly, even watching nature documentaries has been shown to be good for our mental health. This weekend, why not seek ways to enjoy our natural world in a way that works for you?

Reclaiming Reds @ Malvern

This week, learners in Year 2 enjoyed a workshop with experts from Reclaiming Reds. Reclaiming Reds is an organisation that aims to kick-start the long-term process of returning red squirrels to the Knowsley Estate and surrounding area. Learners found out lots about the Red Squirrel diet and protecting their habitat. To find out more, visit: reclaimingreds.co.uk

