Dear Malvern Families,

What an exciting week we've had at school!

The week began with a bang as pupils across all year groups took part in the Times Tables England Rocks competition. Our pupils never fail to amaze us with their enthusiasm and effort and I'm pleased to report that their endeavour paid off. Malvern finished in first place nationally with 1,726,024 questions answered correctly by pupils. Amazingly, we also had four classes in the top ten performing classes nationally. On Wednesday, pupils celebrated by attending school dressed in an ensemble befitting a Times Table Rock star. Today, we kept the celebrations going while raising awareness for the Children In Need charity. Pupils across all year groups enjoyed to opportunity to take on an inflatable obstacle course to celebrate our success. It was a pleasure to see children having such a fun time at the end of another busy but fulfilling week at Malvern.

Have a great weekend!

Jam the T Rex

Last week, year one pupils delighted in their opportunity to meet Jam the T-Rex. Children learnt what tyrannosaurus liked to eat and how they were able to sniff out their prey.

Pupils also got to meet some baby dinosaurs and helped one of them learn how to fly. Some of lucky pupils even got to star in and direct their very own green screen mini movie.

Animals Take Over

Last week, children in our early years welcomed some very special visitors. In nursery, our youngest learners were excited to meet, name and describe the different animals. These included: an owl, hedgehog, mouse and even a hairy tarantula! The fun continued when reception pupils used their investigation skills to describe and sort nocturnal and diurnal animals.

Journey into Space

On Wednesday, year five pupils enjoyed a voyage into deep space when the Wonder Dome visited Malvern. Pupils were transported into the solar system, discovering conditions on other planets and questioning the possibility of life beyond our own planet. Did you know that astronauts will soon visit The Moon again to explore the possibility of liquid water below the surface?

National Champion

We are immensely proud of Evie in Year 4. Last week, Evie was crowned KUGB 2022 National Youth Champion. It is fantastic to see Malvern children demonstrating their skill and resilience at a national level.

Social Value - #TogetherStronger

Once again we have been overwhelmed by the kindness and generosity displayed by the team at Next Energy. Lee, who is the owner and a former Malvern pupil, continues to provide opportunities for Malvern pupils by offering financial support and opportunities to attend ticketed events. This week, Lee's team donated hundreds of gifts to support our Santa Spectacular event in December. We continue to be very grateful to have Lee and Next Energy as a part of our Malvern family.

We also like to extend our thanks to Whittaker's Garden Centre in Prescott who visited school this week to donate a selection of Christmas gifts and decorations. These items will support our festive events at school. Again, we feel very fortunate to have such committed community partners.

World Cup 2022

As many of you will be aware, the World Cup starts this Sunday. During the competition, if England are playing during the school day, pupils will have the opportunity to show their support by listening to or watching the matches live in their classroom. This will be done alongside regular curriculum work so that children who do not wish to participate can continue with their learning.

Attendee of the Week

We are delighted to announce that the Attendee of the Week award goes to El-Sia! She has made a massive effort to be in school, and on time, every day since September. El-Sia has even attended appointments within the day, but still returned to school and carried on with her day.

El Sia is making lots of progress in school, and it is a joy to watch her grow every day. Well done, El Sia - keep up all the hard work!
