

Into the Woods

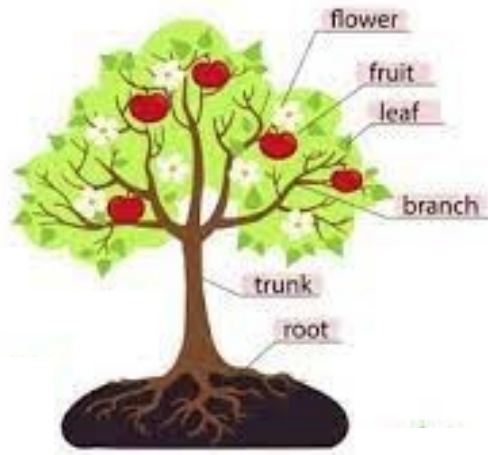

Science

Design & Technology

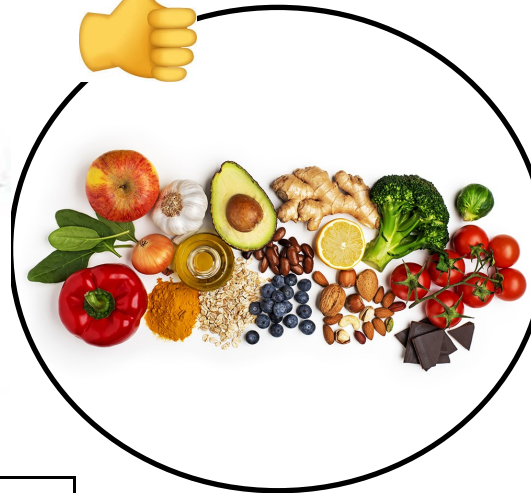

Parts of a plant

Parts of a tree

Healthy foods

Unhealthy foods

Vocabulary

Evergreen

Evergreen trees are trees that have leaves all year round and are always green. Their leaves are usually narrow and thin. Some examples of evergreen trees are: holly, yew and eucalyptus.

Deciduous

Deciduous trees have leaves which change colour during autumn each year and then fall to the ground in winter, leaving the tree with bare branches. Examples of deciduous trees are ash, birch and oak.

Seasons

We have four seasons. Seasons refer to the change in weather. They are Autumn, Winter, Spring and Summer.

Fruit

banana

apple

pear

grapes

kiwi

pineapple

strawberry

satsuma

orange

