Dear Malvern Families,

You may have noticed that children's attendance at school has been highlighted regularly in national press and news coverage of late. Attendance rates across England have emerged as a significant concern on a national scale, reflecting the broader challenges faced by schools in promoting consistent attendance. Furthermore, attendance levels in Knowsley have been identified as among the lowest in the country. This spotlight underscores the importance of addressing children's attendance issues within our local community.

Therefore, I am absolutely delighted to share that Malvern has once again been recognised for excellent attendance and have received a National Attendance Award for the Autumn Term.

At Malvern, we fully understand the importance of good attendance and we are thrilled that that our relentless dedication to promoting good attendance has once again been recognised at a national level. This award is a testament to the incredible partnership between school and home. Your encouragement and commitment to ensuring your children attend school regularly is outstanding and has played a significant role in Malvern achieving this recognition once again.

Through continued collaboration and proactive measures, we remain steadfast in our commitment to fostering a culture of excellent attendance at Malvern. As we celebrate our most recent achievement, I urge all members of our school community to reflect on how we have collectively demonstrated the power of teamwork and shared responsibility in nurturing a positive learning environment where every child has the opportunity to thrive. Thank you for your unwavering commitment and partnership in this journey towards excellence.

Have a fantastic weekend!

Mr. James
